

Fire Prevention to Be Demonstrated At Arsenal

Weather conditions permitting, a demonstration in observance of Fire Prevention Week will be started at 4:15 p. m. tomorrow at the Joliet Arsenal main administration area.

There will be a parade of fire fighting equipment, initiating at the administration building at 4:20 p. m. and proceeding to the high explosive burning ground of the EOP portion of the reservation, where gas, chemical, electrical, oil and other types of fire will be extinguished by the plant equipment. Mock fires will start about 4:30 p. m.

Mayors, fire chiefs and any firemen from Joliet, Wilmington and Elwood are invited to view the exhibits and show, according to Col. Carroll Hudson, commanding officer of the plant.

If the weather interferes, the demonstration will be postponed until Thursday.
